Texarkana Note

Dialogue at Hope Post Office this morning:

L. Carter Johnson: Here it is the first of the month again — and one thing I'll never understand.

Editor: For instance . . . Johnson: Why it is that the people who owe you are so slow in writing, but the people you owe are quick as lightning.

Editor: That's a cinch. Ever since the world began bad news has traveled fastest.

Quote:

HOPE'S Star has achieved a milestone sought a long while by Editor Alex Washburn a photo devotee who took a 4x5 Ektachrome picture of a community hog-kill at the Goodlett farm near Ozan back on December 10, 1965.

This past Saturday the Star ran a full-color picture of the hog-killing on its front page. The Star duly noted that this was the first full-color newspaper picture in Southwest Arkansas. In the metropolitan areas, of course, spot news pictures have appeared in full color. Such as the Cotton Bowl excitement pictured in the Dallas dailies.

Alex and his crew performed superbly in using their Berkey automatic color machine and their new 5-unit offset press.

Brooks Shults of Fulton suggested that S. G. Dildy of Texarkana would appreciate a copy of last Saturday's four-color edition with the hog-killing picture on the Goodlett farm, so we sent him one. Mr. Dildy replied this morning:

"Thank you very much for your January 28 issue of the Hope Star containing the picture and writeup of 'Hog-Killing Time in Arkansas.' The picture is excellent and I have read with interest the writeup of the Berkey machine which produced same for your paper. . . .

"I spent many happy summers on the Goodlett farm when I was a young boy, and the many stories my Grandfather Goodlett related to me about the Civil War still linger in my mind. I am proud to have been named after him. Sincerely yours

Teacher Tenure Bill Clears House

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House passed a bill Tuesday giving teachers tenure while the Senate took away some of the coverage of the Quasi-Judicial Retirement System, which became a campaign issue last year.

The tenure bill, however, apparently still faces some hazards in the House.

The representatives voted 59-24 to pass the measure protecting teachers with three years on the job, but failed to adopt the clincher, a motion requiring a two-thirds vote to bring the bill up for reconsideration.

Rep. Jac S. Oakes of Augusta then prevailed on his notice for reconsideration, which gives him three days in which to bring the proposal back for further deliberation.

In other action, a "freedom of information" bill that had cleared the Senate was withdrawn from the time being from the House after legislators raised objections to some points in it.

The Senate approved 32-1 the measure by Sen. J. Lee Bearden of Leachville that would restrict the Quasi-Judicial Retirement System to persons who had reached the age of 65 and who were receiving no other retirement benefits or salaries from the state or federal government.

The system was created by a bill in 1965, but candidates for both political parties in 1966 labeled the measure as "pensions for pals." It provided retirement benefits to William J. Smith of Little Rock, former Gov. Orval Faubus' legal adviser, and Ernest Mannerly, both served on the Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Bearden's proposal would limit retirement benefits to members of the Workmen's Compensation, Commerce and Public Service commissions who had served for at least 10 years.

Rep. Ray S. Smith Jr. of Hot Springs questioned whether the teacher tenure bill would "give greater protection to weaker teachers than good ones." Rep. Harry Carter of Little Rock, author of the bill, said he thought the measure would give equal protection to both, but also attract better teachers and encourage others to do a more effective job in the classroom.

Rep. Bill Wells of Hermitage questioned the bill because he said he didn't want to be in the position of dictating policies to his school board.

Several representatives asked for clarifications in the "freedom of information" bill. Rep. Talbot Feld of Hope asked that the bill be amended to make it

Episcopal Church Plans Class Series

A four weeks series of Inquirers' Classes will be held at Saint Mark's Episcopal Church beginning at 7:30 Thursday February 2nd, it was announced today by the Reverend Fred Hancock, Vicar.

Although these classes are preparation for the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation attendance at them entails no obligation, Father Hancock explained, and anyone who wishes to learn more about the Episcopal Church is invited to attend.

The course is structured around the four points of the Lambeth Quadrilateral, a statement issued by the Anglican Communion in 1888, as a basis for talks, involving Church Re-Union. Each class will be held from 7:30 to 9:00 P.M. each Thursday evening in the new parish hall.

The Right Reverend Robert R. Brown, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas, will visit Saint Mark's Church on Sunday, 26 February, to administer the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation and to dedicate Leonard House, the new parish hall, in memory of H. Russell Leonard.

Bonus Bill Veto by Governor to Draw Protest of Teachers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, issued a strong protest Tuesday over Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's intention to distribute surplus school funds to classroom teachers.

Rozzell said a Rockefeller advisor had been informed "that the AEA urged the governor to sign this bill, that the AEA would vigorously protest a veto, and that the teachers of the state would vigorously protest."

Rozzell said Tuesday that he would veto the measure by Rep. Sherman Blake Williams of Little Rock because the surplus money was needed to give teachers an average $500 annual salary raise as promised.

Williams' measure would have given teachers equal shares in a $2.79 million public school fund surplus. Rockefeller said he did not believe his veto would get a "squawk" from the AEA or the Arkansas Education Department.

Minimum Hourly Wage Now $1.40

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal minimum wage went up to $1.40 an hour today as government officials braced for a flood of inquiries and labor leaders warned they will pounce on any violators.

The $1.40 applies to 32.3 million workers covered by the old $1.25 minimum, while 8 million more employees are brought under the law for the first time, starting at a $1 per hour minimum.

Altogether, nearly two million companies are covered by the law.

The government estimates only about 4.7 million workers will get pay increases under the law since most of those covered already earn more than the minimums.

"We are pulling our investigators into the field offices to answer the phones," said Clarence T. Lundquist, Labor Department wage and hour administrator, noting the rising tide of queries from workers and employers.

"The new increases in the minimum wage will further tempt chiselers," said AFL-CIO President George Meany in asking President Johnson to strengthen enforcement.

Meany said the 13.5-million-member labor federation will set up its own nationwide enforcement machinery to police the law and help both union members and nonmembers press for federal action against cheaters.

Although the law — the Fair Labor Standards Act — provides fines up to $10,000 for willful violations and possible jail terms for a second offense, Lundquist said most cases are settled without court action.

"One of our problems is in getting employers to feel that we can be talked to," Lundquist said.

Some business groups have expressed fear of harassment by federal investigators and costly court litigation for accidental violations.

"Certainly inadvertent violations can be corrected by payment of back wages and assurances of future compliance," Lundquist said.

Meany said Lundquist's 1,000 investigators never have been enough to enforce the law and that "last year, some 430,000 workers were underpaid a total of $90 million by employers who flouted the Fair Labor Standards Act — and these figures cover only those who were discovered. Only about half the violators were caught."

Johnson's new budget provides for more investigators, but new amendments to the law boost the number of workers covered by nearly 30 per cent and the number of firms almost 60 per cent.

that he had discussed his school program with AEA and Education Department officials, but Rozzell said nothing was mentioned regarding the surplus funds.

"I have not and to my knowledge no other representative of the AEA has ever discussed this matter with the governor," Rozzell said.

"I have not in the past and I do not now agree that the governor's veto of this measure is in the best interest of the teachers of the state," he said.

Rozzell said he believed the teachers could be given the surplus as a bonus now and that sufficient funds would be available to give teachers the $500 salary increase too.

Rozzell added that prior to Rockefeller's election last November "every policy-making body of the AEA, without a dissenting vote, agreed that this $2.79 million should be made available to local school districts to increase teachers' salaries this year."

Rozzell said that gubernatorial candidates were asked what priorities they set for money available during the next biennium, urging that priority be given to getting the $500 salary increase for teachers.

He said the governor answered "yes" to a question of this nature. Rozzell also said the AEA opposed Democrat Jim Johnson's plan to use the surplus for a free textbook program in high schools.

"The commitment of Gov. Rockefeller on the questionnaire was to provide a $500 increase in the average salary of the teachers in each year of the biennium out of continuing revenues," Rozzell said.

South Korea Against Any Letup in War

By HENRY HARTZENBUSCH
SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korean Premier Chung Il Kwon argued today for continuation of the U.S. air war against North Vietnam, saying American efforts to open peace talks would be hopeless if the talks are stopped.

"The allied powers are on the way to military victory," he said in an interview. "We must redouble our military efforts to win and create conditions to force the North Vietnamese to sit at a peace conference table."

He brushed aside recurrent proposals for a temporary letup in the U.S. air war against North Vietnam.

"If the United States retreats even one step, their efforts to open peace negotiations will be hopeless," the outspoken premier said.

"If the United States decreases its military capability or stops bombings, then invites the North Vietnamese (to talks), it will be a long long time and extremely difficult, if at all possible, to secure peace."

Chung, 49, ruled out an invasion of the North, saying the ground war can be expanded in the South while the bombing of the North continues, as agreed at the Manila summit conference in October.

The handsome, youthful-looking premier, who is also South Korea's foreign minister, said the allied war effort in the South and the air strikes against the North are showing results.

Conscription in Communist areas starts at 17 and has been extended from men 35 to those 45 years old, he said.

"The continued intense effort to win sympathy against the bombings shows their desperate situation," he declared.

Chung, whose country has sent nearly 50,000 men to South Vietnam, said this is his government's position:

1. Strengthen the military capability to achieve victory, which is the shortest route to peace;
2. Rehabilitate and push forward the pacification plan in the South to win over the North;
3. If the North Vietnamese show sincerity for peace, do not hesitate to accept it.

Mao Forces Claim Rout of Opposition

By ROBERT LIU
TOKYO (AP) — Wall posters in Peking claimed today that Mao Tse-tung's forces have routed opposition troops in turbulent Sinkiang Province, site of Red China's nuclear weapons tests, and have captured a fifth major city in another part of Red China.

The Peking correspondent for Japan's Kyodo News Service reported the posters said Mao's supporters were "in full control of the provincial capital of Urumchi and Shihhotze," cities where Mao's foes had been reported putting up successful resistance to the Maoists' attempts to take control of Sinkiang.

Kyodo said the wall poster reports were based on telephone dispatches Jan. 31 from pro-Maoists in Urumchi to pro-Mao Red Guards in Peking.

They said that anti-Maoists had "fled into nearby mountains taking large quantities of arms and ammunition, apparently to wage guerrilla warfare."

Earlier reports today said the Maoists were suing for peace in Sinkiang.

Oxygen Fire Blamed for Explosion

By PAUL RECER
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force official, commenting on an oxygen-fed fire inside a simulated space cabin that killed two airmen, says: "We don't know how or why it happened."

The explosion Tuesday was the second fatal oxygen accident in the nation's space program in five days. Last Friday, the three Apollo 1 astronauts were killed at Cape Kennedy in a fire in their space capsule. Both the Apollo 1 spacecraft and the simulator were filled with pure oxygen at the time.

The Air Force official, Col. James B. Nuttall, head of the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine, said the school has had "over 500 exposures (to pure oxygen) with no difficulty at all."

He said that an accident investigation board has started gathering data.

Killed in the accident at Brooks Air Force Base here were Airman 2C, William F. Bartley Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bartley, Indianapolis, Ind., and Airman 3C, Richard G. Harmon, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon F. Harmon, Auburn, N.Y.

Two hours before the tragedy Bartley's mother had mailed a letter to her son, a technician at the school, telling him that she was worried about him because of the Apollo 1 fire.

The victims were performing routine care and testing of some experimental rabbits inside the School of Aerospace Medicine cabin, actually a green-colored steel tank.

Air Force officials said the simulator was filled with pure oxygen, which can turn a spark into an inferno, in a planned 60-day experiment to determine the atmosphere's long-range effect on the blood of 16 rabbits confined in the cabin. Pressure in the cabin was kept at seven pounds per square inch, about half normal sea-level pressure.

Air Force Capt. Richard D. Sinclair, an aviation physiologist in charge of the experiment, said first indications of the tragedy came when a technician communicating with the airmen by a "talk-a-phone" heard "a sudden muffled sound inside the chamber" and then the sound of running feet.

The technician saw flames through a portal and immediately tripped a "dumb lever," bringing the cabin pressure to sea level in 13 seconds and diluting the oxygen with outside air.

Bartley died within an hour. Harmon died almost eight hours later in an Army hospital.

The interior of the chamber was charred and blackened. The 16 rabbits, bundles of charred fuzz, littered the floor. Some equipment was burned beyond recognition.

Figures U.S. Policy Errors Locked Nation in Vietnam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomat-historian Edwin O. Reischauer says Ho Chi Minh could have led all Vietnam without menacing U.S. interests if U.S. policy errors had not locked this country in a Vietnam war.

The war should have been avoided, said the former U.S. ambassador to Japan, but the United States cannot now quit because it is in a narrow passage "and can't walk backwards."

Reischauer, now a State Department adviser and Harvard University historian, cited in an interview what he called three major policy errors of the past two decades which led to the present Vietnam situation:

—"We just stumbled sort of bit by bit into supporting French colonialism" beginning in 1945.

—"The United States stepped 'into the unsmooth situation the French left behind them' after their defeat by the Viet Minh at Dien Bien Phu in 1954.

—"The United States increased its troop commitment in 1961 from 800 advisers to 17,000. 'This increased the stakes. It would have been a lot less damaging if we had taken our losses and pulled out then.'

Reischauer said there were other mistakes, too — decisions which at the time they were made seemed relatively unimportant.

"I can't give you a year-by-year or a step-by-step analysis," he said.

Reischauer's recommendation: A prudent de-escalation of the war, perhaps with a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. If the combat can be eased, he said, the war may gradually dwindle without formal peace negotiations — a prospect he considers slim.

"The countries that are close to Vietnam would be tremendously worried if we were to pull out," Reischauer said. "Getting out is not as easy as getting in."

For the years ahead, Reischauer sounded this appeal: "Let us not do this again. Let us at least think 12 years ahead and not get into new commitments and new situations of this kind."

Two decades ago, Reischauer said, even a Communist Vietnam would have fiercely maintained its independence. A government headed by Ho Chi Minh, now president of North Vietnam, probably would have taken an independent course similar to that of Yugoslavia in Europe though perhaps more extreme, he said.

They have been released to Pulaski County authorities.

Reds Down 2 Planes, 5 of Crew Die

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Communist ground fire hit two out of three U.S. planes flying just above the treetops along the Laotian border Tuesday to defoliate jungles of the Ho Chi Minh infiltration trail.

One of the twin-engine C-123 Providers was shot down and the five crewmen were killed, a military spokesman in Da Nang reported. The second plane hit made a successful emergency landing at a U.S. Special Forces camp at Khe Sanh, 7 miles east of the Laotian frontier and just south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

On the other side of the country 80 miles south of Da Nang, a U.S. Marine A-6 Intruder jet bomber dropped two 250-pound bombs by mistake on a Marine company position early today, killing one Marine and wounding 11 others.

A U.S. spokesman said the Intruder was making a radar-controlled night strike on a Viet Cong mortar position.

Heavy fog and cloud cover over North Vietnam limited U.S. planes to 39 missions against the north Tuesday, the smallest number of raids since Nov. 25, when 29 missions were flown.

Ground fighting continued on a small scale over much of South Vietnam, although South Vietnamese headquarters reported that government troops killed 51 Viet Cong in a furious 20-minute engagement in the Mekong Delta.

U.S. Marines ended the six-month-old Operation Prairie just south of the demilitarized zone but immediately launched Operation Prairie 2 with the same troops in the same place. The Marines reported killing 1,397 Communist troops in fighting around "The Rockpile" and said their own casualties were moderate for the operation which started Aug. 3.

Most Raids Are in the Hanoi Area

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources said today that better than 95 per cent of U.S. bombing raids on North Vietnam since April have been against targets outside a 20,000-square mile zone that includes Hanoi.

No figures were given, however, for an adjacent zone which includes territory near the capital city.

Responding to recent criticism about air raids near Hanoi, these sources provided figures showing that American planes have staged about 100,000 sorties — attacks by one plane against one target — since April.

The daily sortie rate over North Vietnam is kept secret to prevent the enemy from knowing how many U.S. aircraft are sent aloft on bombing missions. Military communiques from Saigon instead record the tempo of the air war in terms of missions, which usually mean three to five aircraft flying one or more sorties.

Since April, sources said, the United States has sent 30,000 flights — roughly one-third of its missions — to raid supply lines and storage areas hundreds of miles south of Hanoi.

Specifically, this is in what military planners refer to as "Route Package One," a roughly 4,000-square-mile area of January 27 was set aside as "Teacher Appreciation Day" for all teachers at Hope High School. Each year the Student Council honors the school's teachers by treating them to a luncheon in the school cafeteria.

This year the Teacher Appreciation Day committee went all out in preparing surprises and gifts for the teachers, and under the fine chairmanship of Beth Lawrence, they seemed to have topped all past "Days".

The surprise additions to the teacher's lounge were a cold drink machine, a refrigerator, and T. V. trays. The committee also had numbered markers made and placed in the parking lot so that all teachers would have their own car space.

Many times the teachers might wonder if they are taken for granted, but the student really appreciates their efforts as this year's Teacher Appreciation Day showed.

RALPH LEHMAN

Ralph Lehman, Lehman Home Center, Hope, has been named chairman of the legislative committee which will report at the annual session of the board of the Arkansas Retail Hardware Association February 3 in the Arlington Hotel, Hot Springs.

The board meeting will precede opening February 4 of the 67th annual convention of the Arkansas Retail Hardware Association.

North Vietnam just above the former demilitarized zone separating the two Vietnams.

By contrast, said sources, there have been only slightly more than 3,500 raids in that period on "Route Package Five," an area five times as large encompassing all of the city of Hanoi and northwest North Vietnam.

North Vietnam's leg-like southerly extension is sliced up into four route packages numbered one through four in stair-step fashion — the fourth stopping short of Hanoi's southern city limits and along 21 degrees latitude.

No figure was given for the number of sorties within that fourth zone, however — which includes the Van Dien truck park, a target placed at least temporarily off limits after controversy about civilian bombing casualties.

The northeastern territory of North Vietnam makes up Section Six, subdivided into 6A and 6B, the latter taking in the port city of Haiphong.

Only approved targets can be hit in the zones, and the greatest restrictions are levied on U.S. pilots operating around Hanoi, Haiphong and the Vietnam-China border, the sources said.

In addition, they added, there is virtually no bombing along the Vietnam-China border. Military planners have established what is called an "Air Defense Identification Zone" along the border which U.S. planes are prohibited from penetrating, mainly to assure that there are no flights over Chinese territory.

The border zone is generally about 25 miles wide, although its depth varies from point to point.

China Scene of Struggle for Power

By JOHN RODEFICK
TOKYO (AP) — What is happening in China today seems like the controlled madness of the Peking Opera: acrobats tumble, fierce generals fall before skill-voiced heroines, drums roll and cymbals clang.

But the audience pays little attention to that part of the opera. It is only when the rival emperors come on stage that the spectators stop gasping and pay attention.

The "emperors" vying for applause of the crowds in China today are Mao Tse-tung and President Liu Shao-chi. The "heroines" are Mao's acid-tongued wife, former actress Chiang Ching, and Liu's wife, Wang Kung-wei, accused by Mrs. Mao of being dissolute and luxury-loving.

Red China's two First Families—Mao is chief of the Communist party—are enmeshed in a struggle for power. Mao wants to recover the authority he lost in 1958 when Liu succeeded him as president. Liu is resisting.

Mao says China's Communist revolution has gone astray. He blames Liu for taking the soft road of Soviet "revisionism," thinking less of communism than of capitalism.

Since August, Mao has hammered at Liu's heavily entrenched positions with words and abuse scrawled across millions of wall newspapers in Peking or put into the mouths of fanatic Red Guards.

The words have turned to blows. Yet there is the absence from the Peking scene of the principals in this strange drama.

Since last November — when he made his ninth and final 1966 appearance before the Peking multitudes — Mao has not been seen in public. Nor has his chosen heir-apparent, Defense Minister Lin Biao.

These absences—and the lack of information about the whereabouts of Liu Shao-chi—give the Peking developments of recent weeks an air of intermission, as though a shadow play were being performed between the acts of the opera.

The shadow puppets are held in the younger and perhaps firmer hands of Chiang Ching and purge chairman Chen Po-ta. Under their manipulations, the villains have taken on a dimension larger than life.

Reportedly driven out of Peking in November 1955, Mao found refuge in Shanghai. From there he plotted his comeback, returned to the capital last July, once it had been seized by his own men. His big name foes were in Peking and could not escape.

He is trying to stage city coups in Shanghai, Nanking, Canton, Shenyang—Mukden—Harbin, Tientsin, Hankow and other big centers. But most of these cities are in the hands of Liu appointees.

Mao's strategy is to use the army. But in many areas, including Inner Mongolia and Sinkiang, the army's loyalty to him is not 100 per cent sure. Like the traditional Peking Opera, what exists in China today is calculated disorder.

"We advocate the theory of the continuous development of revolution, but not the Trotskyite theory of a permanent revolution," Mao said in 1928.

By continuous development, Mao meant China's progress through periods of private land ownership, state capitalism, cooperatives, communes and finally into communism itself.

He has run head-on into Liu Shao-chi because he believes the president has pulled socialism into the wings just as the last act of pure communism was about to begin.

Actor Awarded Custody of Child

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles Superior Court commissioner has awarded actor Nick Adams temporary custody of his two children, pending trial of his wife's divorce suit.

Commissioner Betty Joe Sheldon gave visitation rights Monday to Adams' actress wife, Carol Nugent, but stipulated she may never have the children "in the presence of nonrelated adult male persons."

The youngsters are Allyson, 6, and Jeb, 5.

Adams at a temporary custody hearing last week, claimed his wife allowed Paul Rapp, a child psychologist, to punish the children.

At the hearing Miss Nugent and Rapp, both 29, admitted intimacies.

Told About Cable

LARRY MILLER

Larry Miller, representative of Hope Community Television, Inc., told Hope Kiwanis club Tuesday that cable TV would be in operation in Hope within the next 90 days.

The firm's 500-foot tower with the "master antenna unit" atop is nearing completion and a downtown office is expected to be open within a few days to sign up subscribers to the service, Mr. Miller pointed out.

The service is designed, Mr. Miller said, to bring clean, bright TV pictures and sound to viewers in Hope from all Arkansas stations as well as the three stations from Shreveport. The cost, he said, would be $5 per month.

Dirksen Holds Key to Treaty With Russia

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen—who has a history of making or breaking some Johnson administration measures—appears now to hold the key to the President's U.S.-Soviet consular treaty.

Right now, he is against it. The pact, which sponsors say is aimed at relaxing East-West tensions and opening the way for the end of the cold war, needs two-thirds approval of those voting on ratification.

This parallels the situation last year in which Dirksen, unlike in 1964, refused to give the administration the Republican votes required to break a full-buster and pass a civil rights bill.

Some of the same Republicans who wanted a civil rights bill in 1966 are seeking ratification of the treaty in spite of what they call "hysterical opposition" to it. But when the countdown comes in a future GOP caucus Dirksen is likely to command a majority for his views.

The Illinois senator reported there was "quite a rowdy-dow" over the treaty at a closed meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee Tuesday. He said differing views were voiced by members but there was no rancor.

He said he would find it "very difficult" to support the document in its present form. He complained at a news conference that the Soviets have largely ignored 1933 agreements establishing the rights of American visitors and he sees little hope they will stick by any new pact.

The tousled-haired Republican leader talked like a man who will need a great deal of the kind of "educating" Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., told the Senate Tuesday the administration ought to be undertaking.

There is evidence that President Johnson tried some "educating" in a talk with Dirksen about the treaty last week but didn't get far.

Morton said if the treaty is ratified it probably would open the way for establishment of one additional Soviet consulate in the United States. That would add only from 10 to 15 Soviet citizens to the 452 now in this country who have diplomatic immunity, he said.

Dirksen's retort in an interview was: "That would just mean adding 10 to 15 more espionage agents in this country."

"I'm for better relations with the Russians but at what cost to our security?" he asked. "Diplomatic immunity for representatives of both countries was established in the 1933 agreement. But the Russian performance in this respect has been pretty shameful."

Notice

how many new cars look like old Pontiacs?

What'll they copy next year?

Other carmakers have already tried to copy our split grille, our stacked headlights, even Wide Track. Of course, they haven't learned how to put them together right. Which is probably why people are buying 1967 Pontiacs even faster than they bought 1966 Pontiacs. And 1966 was our best year ever.

It seems that a lot of people don't want to wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers (articulated wide-sweep wipers—the kind you still get only on Pontiacs). And for imaginative options like our exclusive hood-mounted tach.

People like the idea that powerful 400 cu. in. V-8s are standard on all the big Pontiacs this year. And that nobody has even come close to the regular gas 165 hp Overhead Cam Six that powers our Tempest series.

And people like knowing that all Pontiacs and Tempests come with the complete General Motors safety package.

Of course, somebody else may come up with a pretty good imitation of a 1967 Pontiac. In a year or two. But why wait? Your Pontiac dealer has the real thing right now.

LET'S TALK ABOUT MOVIES

By VELDA SEAMANS

We want to thank our young people in Hope for helping us make our Saenger a place where folks can enjoy a movie. We went to a movie out of town a while back, and the loud talking and commotion in the theatre was so bad we couldn't hear the picture. We have a very few here in Hope who do not consider the pleasure of others at the movies — sometimes they forget — and we have to remind them, but again, thanks!!!

Today's the last chance to see Elvis' latest "Spinout."

Thursday thru Saturday we have one of the best all around family shows we have had in years. First is the fantastic story of "Namu the Whale". It is real — a killer whale — no studio dummy, and the filming of his capture and taming. Believe me — you have never seen anything on any screen like this before, and we doubt if it will ever be filmed again.

Siamese Twins

Doing Fine at Age of 2

By JOE BROWN

High Point Enterprise
HIGH POINT, N.C., (AP) — Approaching their second birthday, the two girls laugh and talk, have healthy appetites, and crawl with as much speed as any tot. One has taken a few steps and doctors today believe both eventually may walk almost normally.

Yet, during the first seven months of their lives, the girls were Siamese twins, joined at birth in the pelvic region. Their successful separation is believed to be the first of its kind.

Dr. Joseph E. Eades and Dr. Collin G. Thomas described the unique case in detail for the first time in the December issue of Annals of Surgery.

In a preface, the doctors said they found histories of 16 cases of Siamese twins being separated and surviving, with most of these involving bodies joined in the area of the chest.

They said, however, that they have never heard of another successful separation of Siamese twins joined in the pelvic region.

The twins, Althea and Dorothea Allen, were born in High Point Memorial Hospital on April 6, 1965, to Mrs. David Allen, 25. Their combined weight was just over seven pounds. Dr. Otis E. Tillman, who delivered the infants, reported that they breathed and cried at the same time.

The babies were moved immediately to the North Carolina Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill for tests to determine if they could survive surgical separation. Months of examinations revealed that, except for the sharing of a few nonvital organs and functions, the twins appeared to be separate physical entities.

Their breathing and heart action were not related. The pinching of one infant provoked no response from her twin.

The question was whether to risk separation, with no known medical precedent of success in a case of this kind. As the twins grew, however, one appeared to become physically dominant. She grew faster and became more active.

Specialists agreed that this might prove dangerous if the infants remained unseparated and an operation was decided upon.

First a team of surgeons plastic surgeons, pediatricians, anesthesiologists and urologists ran through a mock operation, using two dolls to familiarize themselves with any difficulties involved in the physical handling of the human twins.

Then, on Nov. 8, 1965, surgery was performed on two adjoining tables so that, once separated, each twin could be cared for by separate teams of doctors. The operation lasted 7 1/2 hours.

The doctors encountered no apparent difficulty in cutting through the pelvic juncture, which consisted only of cartilage.

Today, the twins are back

DAR Chief Sponsor of History Month

Since 1952 the Daughters of the American Revolution have been the chief sponsors of February as American History Month.

The popularity of this activity has grown with each succeeding year so that, for the last several years, American History Month has been officially proclaimed by the Governors of nearly all the 50 states and by Mayors of more than 1,000 cities.

Now, the Daughters of the American Revolution have succeeded in achieving national recognition of February as American History Month by the passage in the Congress of the United States of a Bill introduced by Senator John Sherman Cooper and guided to passage by Senator Everett M. Dirksen.

This reads as follows:

"Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that February 1967 is hereby designated as American History Month, and the President of the United States is requested and authorized to issue a Proclamation inviting the people of the United States to observe such month in schools and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies and activities."

Due to a parliamentary maneuver, this bill was altered by members of the House to apply only to 1967. Now we need a new law to make this designation permanent. The Daughters of the American Revolution would urge all citizens to write to their congressmen asking them to work for the passage of such a law, which would reaffirm the objectives of the National Society DAR "To Cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom and to foster true patriotism and love of country."

There was a distraught, quivering woman in a severe mental breakdown. Then she was shown only a week later, after treatment with tranquilizers, composed and recovering fast. But, to balance that, there was another woman who heard voices, and who did not respond to the medication.

The emphasis was not so much on treatment of mental illness as on the use of chemicals to improve normal minds—improving ability to think, learn and remember. This is an area into which scientists are just beginning to probe by learning how the brain actually works.

The search is on, but so far no chemical has been found, as narrator Charles Kuralt put it, to make "dumb ones smart."

Despite some painful scenes of highly disturbed patients in mental hospitals and of animals used in experiments, it was an enlightening, reassuring program.

Viewers of Wednesday night's "Stage 67" show on ABC, "David Frost's Night Out in London" may be surprised to see Frost in a monologue that, with very minor variations, was used last week by the British comedy team of Hendra and Ullett on NBC's Perry Como special.

The sketch, Nick Ullett explained, was written several years ago by Ian Lang, now a Glasgow lawyer, when they were all students at Cambridge. He said that the sketch, a satire on British Broadcasting Corp. newscasters, also had been used by assorted revues here and in England.

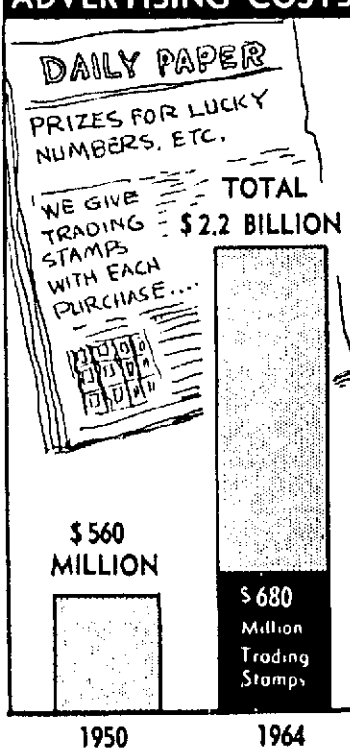

All networks will cover President Johnson's news conference Thursday afternoon on a live basis.

ADVERTISING COSTS

A National Food Marketing Commission study of the food industry finds advertising costs up sharply. The report, critical of promotional gimmicks, notes that trading stamps accounted for almost a third of the 1964 total. The cost to stores exceeded total 1950 advertising expenditures.

Ella Fitzgerald Sings to 3,000

BERLIN (AP) — American jazz songstress Ella Fitzgerald belted out tunes for East Berliners in a midnight performance Wednesday and they loved it.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Documentary is a broad television term used to describe just about every program that is neither fiction nor a sports event. The quality level of television documentaries is generally high even when the subject is difficult to demonstrate, like wars or philosophies.

"CBS Reports" Tuesday night, however, was built around a subject ideal for television. It showed the research and experimentation with drugs and chemicals that alter the mind.

There was a distraught, quivering woman in a severe mental breakdown. Then she was shown only a week later, after treatment with tranquilizers, composed and recovering fast. But, to balance that, there was another woman who heard voices, and who did not respond to the medication.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

PARENTS SHOULD CRACK DOWN great, and they're as close as the "pusher" on the corner. —H.

Dear Helen: We hired a baby sitter we thought we knew very well. We told her we'd be home early and not to let anybody in.

When we returned we found about 20 kids, aged from around 12 to 22 running our house. We called the police and caught three of the vandals before they got away.

Thank goodness our baby was all right. But we had several cigarette burns in our rugs, plus they stole or broke several items.

All that happened wasn't our sitter's fault. But she let them in! Then she couldn't stop them when they got rough.

The word is there is nothing we can do about getting damages. The parents, evidently don't care that their kids almost wrecked our house.

I know from my own experience as a teenager, if you get off with just a little tap on the wrist, or maybe not even that, you'll think it's all fun and no consequences, so why not try again?

I hope you put this in all your papers, for I have a feeling it is the only way I can be heard.

What's the matter with parents? —HURT HOME MAKER

Dear Homemaker: Parents who shrug off their children's vandalism need damage suits to open their eyes. The word from ME is: See your district attorney or juvenile officer. —H.

Dear Helen: A teen said these way-out songs by way-out singers don't mean anything. She'd better believe some of them connected with drugs. When a singer of the uncombined type refers to "trip" it's L. S. D. Others sing about marijuana. There is even an album out now that advertises it was recorded with all members under the influence of L. S. D.

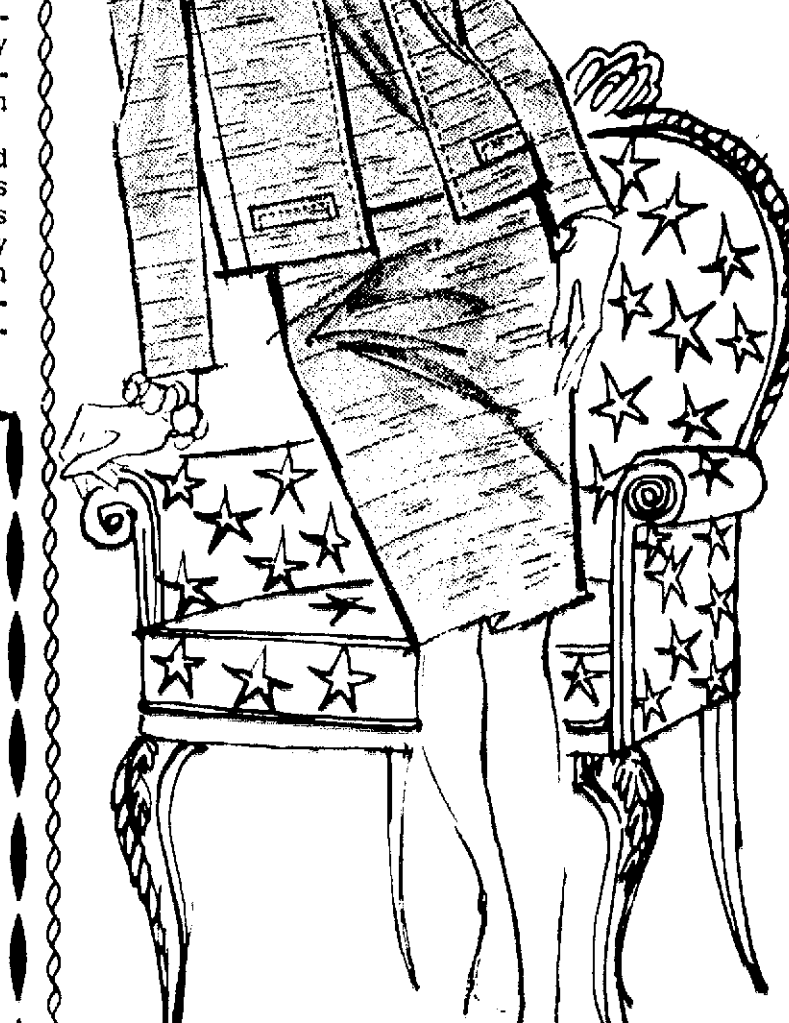

I've seen a young life close to me ruined by these drugs. Songs plug them, teen "idols" use them they're frighteningly easy to get. Why can't an anti-drug education program be started in schools? —MOTHER

Dear Mother: Just as important: Why isn't an anti-drug education program conducted in every home? Schools, and even police, aren't enough to combat this growing problem. Every parent in America should be actively concerned with the menace of illegal drugs. The dangers are

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Diabetics Are Especially Prone to Heart Disease

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Despite intensive study, diabetes is still a puzzling disease. It also appears to be much more prevalent than is generally suspected. Before the advent of insulin, diabetes was the only sure sign of the disease. They do, however, show an elevated blood sugar in the glucose tolerance test.

In the past the search for persons with a high risk of getting a heart attack concentrated on persons with an increased blood cholesterol level, high blood pressure and obesity. To these three groups we must now add an elevated blood sugar. The interrelationship between the two diseases is further proved by the fact that high cholesterol levels and high blood pressure are also common among diabetics and about 80 per cent of newly discovered diabetics have or have had a problem with excess weight.

Every effort must be made therefore to discover these early warnings so that appropriate preventive measures can be applied, whether it be reducing the weight, the blood pressure, the cholesterol level or the blood sugar.

Not only are hardening of the arteries and coronary heart disease found in a larger proportion of diabetics than in nondiabetics in any given age group but a larger proportion of persons with arterial diseases including coronary disease is found to have a high blood sugar often unsuspected than it is found in persons with normal hearts and blood vessels. This suggests a very close relationship between diabetes and cardiovascular disease.

Not only are diabetics especially likely to have heart disease but persons with heart

Tigers Are Upset by Fordyce

By JAMES HAMILTON

Last night the Yerger Tigers traveled to Fordyce, Arkansas to take on J. E. Wallace High School. The senior boys were upset by a score of 69-58, but the junior boys came through with their third victory of their last four starts defeating their opponents 49-37.

The Junior Boys trailed at the end of the first quarter by only 2 points as the score was 6-4. Trying to make a comeback, the Tigers stayed within the 3 point margin of the Bears throughout the first half, as the half ended at 14-11 in favor of the Bears.

The Tigers came back in the third quarter from behind and scored 18 points, which was 4 points more than they scored the first half. Now the Tigers led 29-25.

Frank Prater and Lee Davis led for the Tigers with 16 points each. Followed by John Dudley with 8, Larry Muldrew 6, and R. Newton 3.

The Senior Tigers were upset by the Senior Bears by a score 69-58, despite the fact that they played an excellent game. The Tigers trailed at the end of the half by a score of 40-17 as the Bears had completely dominated the first half with field goals as far as 15 ft. out.

The Tigers offense seemed to be very weak as they missed over 50 percent of their field goals, but some how managed to cut the deficit of 23 points down to only 6 points during the third and fourth period, but their defense just didn't seem to hold and the Bears once again increased their lead to 11 points and the final score was 69-58.

The scorers for the Tigers were Spenser Brown with 18 points, Ernest Standokea and Johnny Smith 14, Ray Garland 10, and Kenneth Muldrew 2.

Leading for the Bears and keeping everything hot was Ronald Shelton with 31 points.

Saturday Night the Tigers will play host to the Dunbar Titans of Texarkana, Texas in Harris Gymnasium at 6:30 and they're hoping for your support to carry them on to victory one of the better teams in the conference.

Mantle Signs 5th Contract for $100,000

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle will give first base a whirl at $100,000 a year in a desperate attempt to revive the fortunes of the New York Yankees.

This probably will be the last go-round for Mickey who is 35 and soon will be starting his 17th year as a Yankee. Unless the switch brings new life to Mickey's battered legs and knees, he probably will hang it up after the season.

Mantle would like to hit 500 home runs (he has 496). He would like to play more games than any Yankee (he has 51 to go to reach Lou Gehrig's mark of 2,164). He also would like to play in another World Series, a happening that would call for a dramatic last-to-first flip-flop by the Yanks.

Mantle showed up at Yankee Stadium Tuesday with manager Ralph Houk to sign his fifth consecutive $100,000 contract. He admitted this probably would be his last.

"If I should have a real good year and we do good, I think it (moving to first base) could add to my career," he said. "I'll just have to wait and see how it turns out before we talk about the future."

Mikita Wins Prize Money of $500

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Mikita of the Chicago Black Hawks is $500 richer and halfway to securing the National Hockey League's Hart Memorial and Lady Byng trophies.

Mikita received the money, $250 each, for being the mid-season leader in the race for honors as the most valuable player and the player who best combined superior play and sportsmanship.

Amateurs, Pros Enter Desert Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)

A legion of golfers — 128 professionals and 384 flailing amateurs — begin assault on five courses today in the five-day, 90-hole Bob Hope Desert Classic marathon.

Incentive for the professionals is a Hope chest of $110,000. The money, according to the PGA, is listed as unofficial but as 1955 winner Bill Casper observed: "It'll spend."

The PGA lists tournaments as unofficial when professionals play with amateurs or the field is limited by invitation.

Leading what is probably the bulkier field in golf is Arnold Palmer, winner by five strokes last Sunday in the $100,000 Los Angeles Open. Arnie played well in Los Angeles, finishing 15 under par for the 72 holes and is installed here as the prerace favorite.

Palmer won this tournament in 1959 and 1962, but lost to Doug Sanders last year in a playoff.

Casper, the U.S. Open titlist, and Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, who won the Bing Crosby party two weeks ago, are on hand to complete golf's Big Three in action. Gary Player doesn't plan to play in U.S. tournaments until later in the tour.

For the first four rounds of the Classic, pros are teamed with threesomes of amateurs. Each day, the professional plays one of four desert courses — Eldorado, Indian Wells, Bermuda Dunes and LaQuinta — with a new set of amateurs.

Sunday, the final day of the tourney, the amateurs drop out, and the pros play LaQuinta to decide the money.

Joining Palmer, Casper and Nicklaus, who won here in 1963, are other former champions Bill Maxwell, 1951, and Tommy Jacobs, who bested Jimmy Demaret in a 1964 playoff.

Southern S. Moves Nearer AIC Crown

AIC ROUNDUP

Southern State, a talented group of veterans, moved one notch nearer a second straight Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball title Tuesday night when the Muleriders nudged Arkansas A&M 80-76.

The victory left SSC with a 10-1 record and a one-game lead over Idle State College of Arkansas.

In other AIC action, Ouachita Baptist stunned crosstown rival Henderson 76-69, Harding tripped Ozarks 80-78, Arkansas Tech beat Hendrix 79-56 and Philander Smith defeated Arkansas College 106-91.

Bobby Price scored 20 points and Bill Burson added 15 for Southern State. The Muleriders' next action is Saturday night against faltering Hendrix at Conway. Louis Sansevero led A&M with 22 points.

Tech poured in 22 points in one stretch while Hendrix went scoreless as the hapless Warriors dropped their sixth straight conference game. Paul Brown paced Tech with 23 points and Jim Clouette led Hendrix with 15.

Bob McKeel's two free throws with 41 seconds left provided Harding its victory over Ozarks. The Mountaineers trailed most of the game, managed to gain a tie twice in the final five minutes but missed several shots in the final minute.

Ron Goss led the Harding scoring with 17 points but Ozarks' Jerry Coots took game honors with 31 and Richard Pyland added 20.

An overflow crowd of 2,500 watched the two Arkadelphia rivals, Ouachita and Henderson, collide. The Tigers held Henderson's Larry Duckworth to only six points and nine rebounds. Duckworth leads the conference in both categories.

Larry Bone pitched in 26 points for Ouachita and Al Brown had 24 for the Reddies. Philander Smith offset Bill Cossey's 35-point effort for Arkansas College as the Panthers ripped the Scots 106-91. Jim Turner led Philander with 21 points.

More rivers rise in Colorado than in any other state, hence the state's nickname of "Mother of Rivers."

DETROIT (AP) — When little Eddie Tolan's stubby legs carried him to double gold medal upset victories in the 1932 Olympics, he became the first Negro to be hailed as the fastest man alive.

Tolan, who electrified the track world with those victories, died Tuesday from an apparent heart attack. He was 57.

His sister, Mrs. June Brown of Detroit, said Tolan, a bachelor, had gone to the hospital after teaching his physical education class at a Detroit elementary school.

SMU Downs TCU Hopes for Title

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The honeymoon apparently is over for Texas Christian in the Southwest Conference.

The Horned Frogs from Fort Worth had been the surprise leader in the SWC college basketball race at 4-0 despite an overall 6-8 record.

That is until Tuesday night at Dallas. Southern Methodist edged out an 89-88 home court victory and topped TCU out of first place. The Mustangs, now 12-4 and the preseason choice to win the SWC, took over the No. 1 spot themselves with 5-1 league mark to TCU's 4-1.

Lynn Phillips, with 25 points, and several vital steals by Charley Beasley, paced SMU. The score was tied at 83-83 with 1:59 left on the clock before SMU took the lead for good on Denny Holman's free throw.

Phillips added two more free throws and Bob Voight's basket made it 88-83 before TCU cut it to 88-86.

Phillips then sank what proved to be the winning point from the foul line with five seconds left. That made Mickey McCarty's last second basket for the Frogs meaningless.

Army won its sixth straight, defeating Fordham 61-59 in New York on two free throws by John Mikula after time had run out.

Once-beaten Boston College made it five in a row and 11-1 over-all with a 90-75 victory over Seton Hall at South Orange, N.J. despite 34 points by the losers' Bill Somerset.

In other road triumphs, St. Peters of New Jersey won its eighth straight and upped its season mark to 13-1 by defeating Hofstra 91-87, Memphis State beat Jacksonville 63-58 in overtime, Fairfield downed Fairleigh Dickinson 75-67 and sixth-ranked Houston overwhelmed Nevada Southern 103-83. Houston was the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action.

Iowa State, with Don Smith scoring 27 points and grabbing 16 rebounds, handed Missouri its 12th straight defeat 72-58 at Ames. Paul Long's 36 points paced Wake Forest over Clemson at Winston-Salem 90-80 to put the Deacons in a tie with Duke for second place in Atlantic Coast Conference.

In other home court triumphs, Temple drubbed Gettysburg 109-73, Wichita downed Chicago Loyola 90-82, Rice beat Arkansas 60-56, Baylor edged Texas 88-86, North Texas routed Hawaii 89-64 and Maine whipped Bates 105-92.

Elvin Hayes threw in 42 points for Houston against Nevada Southern as the Cougars rebounded after their 12-game winning streak was ended by Washington last week. Elbert Miller collected 38 for Nevada Southern.

Benchwarmer Gives Warriors a Hot Foot

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jeff

Mullins, who spent two years on the bench cooling his heels, is now giving San Francisco a hot foot. The Warriors responded again Tuesday night.

The former hotshot from

Duke sparked the Warriors to a

108-106 victory over the Detroit

Pistons as he came off the bench and scored 21 points, including the game's last three points in the final eight seconds.

San Francisco's triumph in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Square

Garden extended the Warriors' runaway lead in the Western Division to 10 games over St.

Louis.

The Hawks lost the nightcap to New York 139-120 as the Knicks broke a five-game losing streak and retook third place from Cincinnati in the East.

Mullins, who was St. Louis'

No. 1 draft choice three years ago, gave his former mates an

Wednesday, February 1, 1967

eyelet in his new fireman's role with the Warriors.

His seven points and six assists brought San Francisco back from a 21-11 deficit to a 60-

53 halftime lead.

He had 11 more points as the game seersawed through the last half. Then, with Detroit leading 106-105 with eight seconds remaining, Paul Neumann stole the ball on a Detroit throw-in from out of bounds and poked

it to Mullins, who drove in untouched for the winner. Mullins added a free throw in the last second.

After Mullins left the floor

Tuesday night, the only heat generated was by the Knicks.

Trailing 102-101, Dick Barnett and Willis Reed began to sizzle.

Barnett hit three quick baskets and Reed five points for a

117-106 spread. Barnett, who finished with 28 points, notched two more baskets, and Reed, who totaled 30 points, added four field goals to turn the game into a rout.

Rookie Lou Hudson had 31 for

St. Louis and Bill Bridges 26.

No other games were played.

Morgan & Lindsey's Warehouse Supplies 10 Stores

It's a big job to feed the ever-growing appetite of 165 stores. Yet, this big, ultra-modern distribution center located in Monroe, Louisiana, has met every challenge since it went into operation some four years ago. It provides a continuous flow of merchandise to satisfy the needs of the stores. "The 148,000 ft. warehouse has performed to perfection," said one Company official, "meeting every efficiency requirement."

Since 1962, the tonnage of incoming and outgoing merchandise has increased tremendously. Yet, this facility has been able to handle the seasonal peak build-ups with the use of its latest system in electronic and electrical handling devices. "You won't find another system like this in the entire South," stated Morgan & Lindsey president, E. E. Latham.

Today, it supplies 114 Morgan & Lindsey stores in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and seven Murphy stores, thirteen Morris, fifteen Perry Harris, ten Bruners, four Jones and two Bargain World stores in the same five state area. "We'll be easily able to handle two hundred stores and more," he says, pointing to future growth plans of Murphy and its subsidiaries.

Automated and electrically controlled conveyors can be seen in the above photograph. Despite a heavy initial cost, the facility is an indispensable feature of the Morgan & Lindsey operation. More than 2,200 ft. of automated and electrically controlled conveyor flows through the expansive 3,000,000 cubic ft. of warehouse; officials point to these factors already saving man-hours and dollars. The huge warehouse can handle eleven freight cars and sixteen trucks at one time. It is served regularly by the Missouri Pacific railroad and five motor carriers, one freight forwarder and REA Express. Today, it stocks more than 9,000 separate items.

Time-saving features of the mammoth Morgan & Lindsey distribution center that makes it unique in the warehouse industry include a 502 ft. packing conveyor, an automatic weighing machine that records store orders as they move around the 2,148 ft. towveyor. Another high light is the automatic shut-off that stops carts passing through the staging area before hooking up with the main towveyor line.

Seen in the right hand side of the photograph, are metal bins where the merchandise is picked and placed on the carts, loaded carts are then placed on the towveyor track and moved around the 502 ft. packing area conveyor. This area is located mid-center on the left hand side of the towveyor. Orders are packed here and made ready for shipment to the stores. Truck ramps servicing outgoing merchandise is loaded on vans located on the extreme left hand side of the photograph. Not shown in the above photograph to the extreme right is the 417 ft. railroad unloading dock which can handle eleven box cars at once. Box cars are pulled up to the platform and outgoing shipments are placed in pre-coded shipments and selects them for sorting.

An average work force of 87 employees are required to operate on a normal day. With the advent of several new store due to open it is expected that this new depot will be servicing 200 stores by the end of 1967. Operations Manager of the Morgan & Lindsey depot is M. L. Causey, a veteran of 30 years service and a long-time resident of Monroe, Louisiana.

Miss Baez, 26, attended the rally at the invitation of a Japanese organization known as the Peace for Viet Nam. She signed a petition urging the United States to halt its bombing of North Vietnam.

Tickets for Miss Baez' concert in Japan range from $2.80 to $6.95.

Canadian to Get Hero Award

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Cpl. Claude LeBas, a Canadian citizen who joined the U.S. Marine Corps "to find out what war is about," will receive the nation's second highest medal for heroism in Vietnam combat. It was announced Wednesday at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

LeBas, 20, of Long Beach, Calif., will be presented the Navy Cross for action during "Operation Orange" near Da Nang last April. LeBas, half his platoon wiped out by Viet Cong fire, grabbed a rocket launcher and knocked out two enemy mortars. Then he recovered a machine gun to set up a base of fire.

"We were outnumbered six to one," he said. "We held them off for two days before reinforcements arrived."

Takes Over New Store in Center

W. B. MORRIS

W. B. Morris, former manager of the Morgan & Lindsey store in downtown Hope has been named manager of the new store located in the Hope Village Shopping Center. This announcement was made previously by I. C. Davis, vice-president in charge of personnel for that Company.

The new store will officially open on February 2nd in conjunction with the official dedication of the new shopping center. Ribbon cutting ceremonies will be held at 10 A.M., Thursday. Officiating will be Mayor John B. Gardner, Jr., and a host of city officials and executives from several companies with stores in the center.

Mr. Morris moved to Hope from Indiana Pennsylvania in 1963. For the last 3 1/2 years, he has managed the local Morgan & Lindsey store in downtown Hope. Morris started his retail career with the G. C. Murphy Company, parent Company of the Morgan & Lindsey Chain after serving subsequent assistant manager assignments in Phillippi, West Va. and Latrobe, Pa., prior to his Indiana assignment. Since coming to Hope in September 1963, Bill has been active in local civic organizations, serving in many capacities. Presently, he serves as president of the Retail Merchants Association, which is responsible for coordinating retail sales activities in Hope. The Retail Merchants Association is an arm of the Chamber of Commerce and works very closely with other agencies of that organization.

Bill resides at 510 Cherry St. with his wife, Betty and daughter, Bitsy, age sixteen (16) who is a Jr. at Hope High School. "We have been very happy since moving to Hope and we have no desire to move elsewhere" stated Morris. "With the opening of the new store which is larger in size and was badly needed to display the full line of merchandise normally stocked in one of our newer stores, this provided an opportunity to move up to a better store without moving to another town" concluded Morris.

Knight Dist. Manager 35 Years

A. L. Knight, District Manager and a veteran of 35 years with the Morgan & Lindsey firm is in charge of merchandising and displaying the new store which will officially open Thursday, February 2nd. Knight is in charge of sixteen (16) Morgan & Lindsey stores operated throughout northern Mississippi and all of Arkansas.

Knight started his retail career on September 1, 1932 and was assigned to the Huston, Louisiana store. After having served well in that capacity, he was promoted to manager of the Kosciusko store in 1933. Then in 1948, after fifteen (15) years as manager of the Kosciusko store, Knight was promoted to the position of District Manager for the Arkansas, Mississippi stores.

Mr. Knight continued to reside in Losciusko with his wife Lena Bates Knight where he presently has an office in the downtown Morgan & Lindsey store. In the 34 years of residency in Losciusko, Leo, as he is known by his many friends throughout the tri-state area has been cited on numerous occasions for his outstanding contributions made to church and civic organizations. Knight is a long-standing member of the First Baptist Church of Kosciusko and has served in every church capacity, exception being pastoral position. During this period, he has headed many church and civic organizations dedicated to the betterment of the community.

Assisting in the displaying of the new store are managers from many of the outlying stores. "The new store will employ only local people" according to E. E.

GOP to Offer a Revised Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald Ford wants President Johnson to submit a revised budget. He says "the House Appropriations Committee could force him to do so" by refusing to hold hearings on the $135-billion spending program.)

In a Roanoke, Va., speech Monday night, Ford also called for a lower debt limit. He said "the President could cut several billions out of the fiscal 1968 budget if he would set a lower ceiling on it and instruct his budget director to squeeze spending under that roof."

Meanwhile, one of Ford's GOP colleagues attacked an administration attempt to get the national debt ceiling raised by $7 billion to $337 billion.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., told Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler he wants participation sales included in the debt figures. Byrnes' demand came as Fowler presented his case for an increase in the debt limit before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The administration plans the sale of $3.9 billion of participation interests on pools of government-held loans. Such sales are listed in the budget as "negative expenditures" and are used to reduce the spending side of the budget.

Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze insisted the sales of interest in government agency loans don't constitute a debt of the government, which has only a contingent liability to make them good if federal agencies fail to.

Schultze said if the participation sales were included in the national debt, all other contingent liabilities also should be included. This would raise the national debt some $105 billion, he said.

The committee recalled Fowler and Schultze for more testimony today. It is expected to take up the debt limit in executive session later this week.

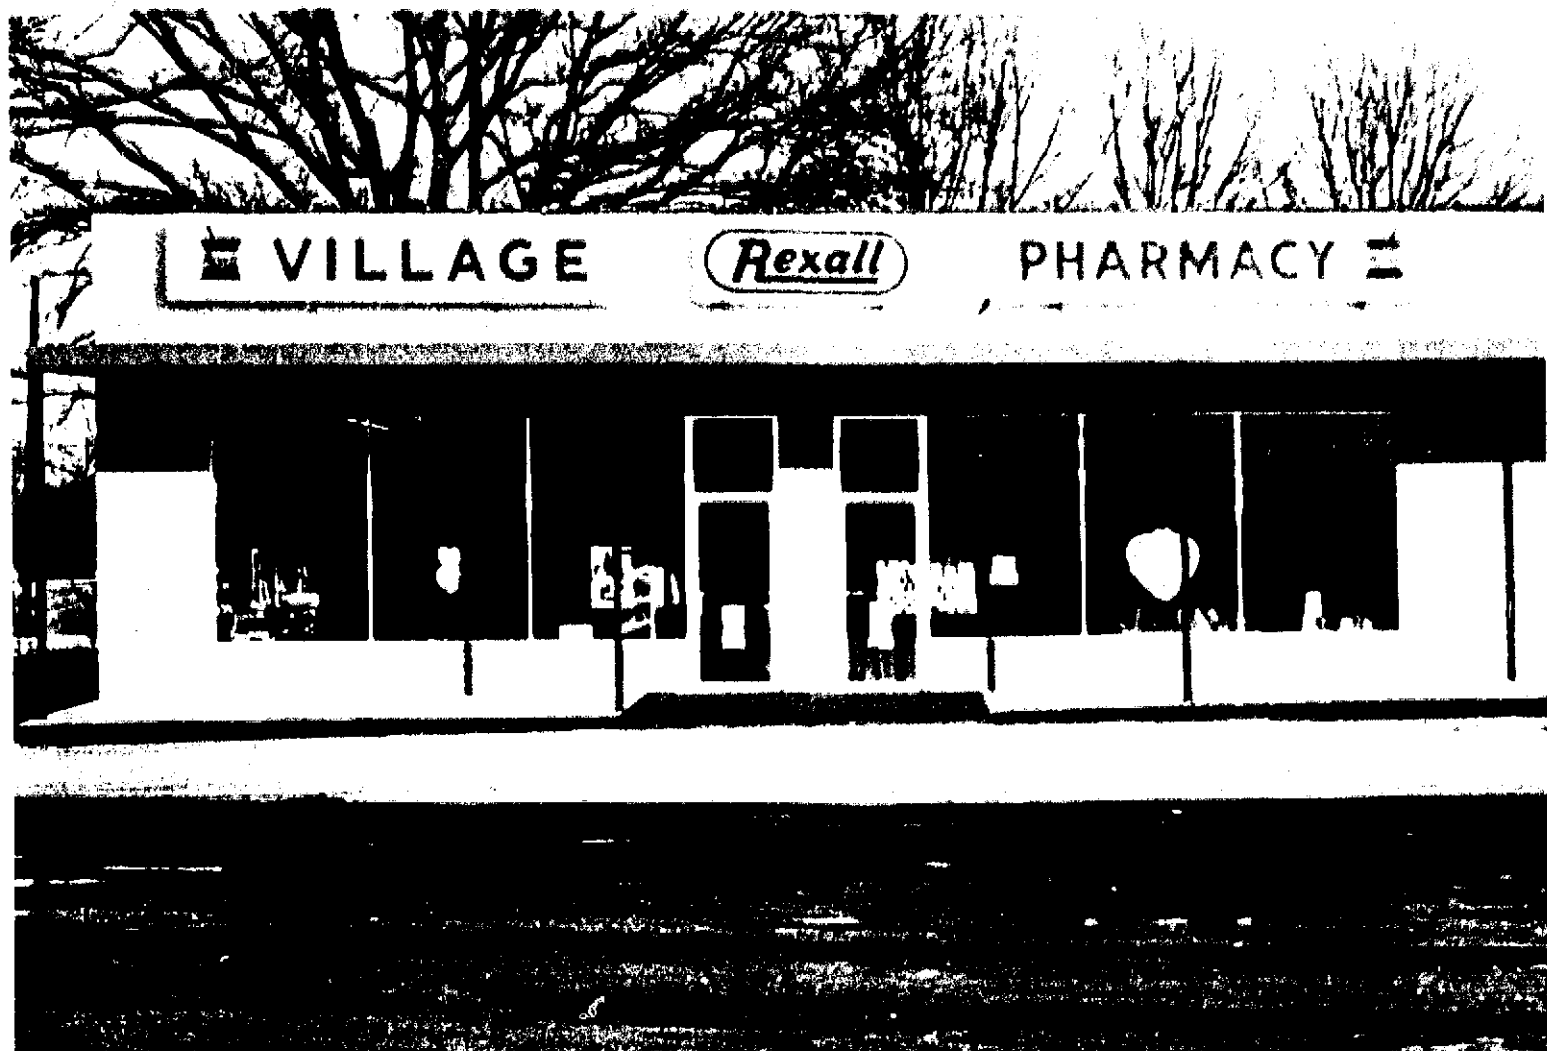

The Senate rejected 63 to 13 Monday an attempt to provide more congressional muscle for pushing through Johnson's "Great Society" programs.

It killed a proposal by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., to increase the membership of the Appropriations Committee by adding, on an ex-officio basis, members of other committees which handle key administration spending plans.

Latham, president. "This new store is an expression of our confidence and appreciation to the residents of this community". New merchandise lines will be added and familiar lines expanded to meet the needs of the growing community. The Morgan & Lindsey Chain operates 115 stores and is head-quartered in Monroe, La.

Soviet Writer Under Arrest

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexander Ginzburg, a Soviet intellectual said to have been instrumental in compiling a "white book" on the Sinyavsky-Daniel trial, is reported under arrest.

The book, published in Western Europe and secretly in the Soviet Union, contains a record of the trial of Soviet authors Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Suli M. Daniel. They were imprisoned last February for publishing anti-Soviet works abroad.

Raids Against China Are Reported

By HAL MCCLURE

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — A refugee leader from Communist China's remote northwestern province of Sinkiang reports that a refugee army based and trained across the border in the Soviet Union made 5,000 guerrilla raids into the province in the past year.

The claim was made by Isa Yusu Alptekin, president of the Eastern Turkistan Refugees Association which has its headquarters in Istanbul. Eastern Turkistan is the Turkish name for Sinkiang.

Alptekin said in an interview that the Soviet Union set up a secret military school for East Turkistan refugees to teach them guerrilla warfare, commando tactics and public administration.

He said the 60,000-man refugee army operates out of Alma Ata, capital of the Soviet Union's Kazakh Republic adjoining Sinkiang, and is commanded by Gen. Zunun Talbov, a former businessman in Sinkiang's capital, Urumchi.

Talbov, whom Alptekin knew as Zunun Talb, fled Sinkiang in 1963 after an abortive revolt.

Alptekin said his information was based on reports from refugees from the Soviet Union and China and from Turkish nationals who have visited the Soviet Union. His claims could not be confirmed.

He said the Turkistan guerrillas have had no trouble in penetrating the mountainous area in western Sinkiang despite a 25-mile buffer zone set up by the Red Chinese in 1962 after a bloody revolt by the province's Moslem minority.

Alptekin was prime minister of Eastern Turkistan when it was a semi-autonomous region before the Communist Chinese took over in 1949. He escaped to Turkey with his family.

Since 1952, he said, about 300,000 Turkistanis have fled to the Soviet Union, but 8 to 10 million others still live in Sinkiang.

"Terrorism has increased since the so-called-Turkistan revolution began," he said, and there have been reports of a number of suicides. He accused the Chinese Communists of committing genocide in the province.

A year ago Alptekin claimed the Red Chinese had killed and tortured hundreds of thousands of Turkistanis in Sinkiang and closed mosques and other religious establishments.

The vast province long has been a sore point in Soviet-Chinese relations. China sent substantial troop reinforcements to the area in 1964 and fortified a buffer zone along hundreds of miles of the disputed border.

Co-Owner of Rexall Pharmacy

DOUGLAS DRAKE

Co-owner and Manager of the Village Rexall Pharmacy in the new Hope Village Shopping Center is Douglas Drake, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Drake. Douglas attended Patmos schools through the 8th grade, and finished his high school education at Hope High school. He moved to Hope in 1954. Upon graduating from high school, he entered Henderson State Teachers College for pre-pharmacy school work and then to pharmacy school. He graduated from Pharmacy in 1962 and became regular one year later.

Douglas is a member of the First Baptist Church, Hope Lions Club, Arkansas Pharmaceutical Assn., American Pharmaceutical Assn., does active work in all four and is an alumni of Sigma Phi Epsilon International fraternity.

He is married to the former Carolyn Story and they have two sons, Stephen, age 4 and John, age 2. They live on the Rosston Road.

Douglas joined Ward and Son in 1963 as a partner with Steve Bader and that partnership extends to the Village Rexall Pharmacy.

Steve Bader Is Veteran Druggist

STEVE BADER

A native of Hope and graduate of Hope High School, Steve is married to the former Doris Reed of Hopkinsville, Ky. They have two daughters, Mary Ann, a student at Hendrix College and Martha, a Hope High student. Steve is a veteran of World War II, member of the official board of First Methodist Church, member of Hope Rotary Club and American Legion.

He and his partner, Douglas Drake, own Ward & Son Drug Company and Village Rexall Pharmacy.

Steve began working for Frank and Finley Ward in 1946, became a partner in 1954 and full owner in 1963 following the death of Finley Ward, Ward & Key Drug Store was established in 1892 and after Mr. Key's death the name was changed to Ward & Son. Following Mr. Ward's death, the two sons, Frank and Finley became owners and partners. When Frank Ward died in 1947, Finley became sole owner.

In May of 1966, plans were begun on the new Village Rexall Pharmacy, which is a branch of the present Ward and Son Drug Co. Present plans are to keep both stores.

The new Village Rexall Pharmacy in Hope Village Shopping Center is owned and operated by Douglas Drake and Steven Bader and managed by Drake. Other employees are Mrs. Mary Teague, experienced Cosmetician, formerly worked for Owl Rexall Drug in Eldorado. Mrs. Forrest Singleton is a regular part-time saleslady to add to the force when needed. Mrs. Jean Butler moved from the Ward & Son Drug Store for her experience of drug store sales and products. Curtis Jameson is stockman, does delivery and custodian work.

igan State or UCLA. Yet, Carnegie produces graduates whose reputation is unequaled. How does it manage to do this?

In a statement to prospective students, the Carnegie Tech administration advises: "Students will be kept in the program only as long as they continue to demonstrate professional promise." Carnegie trains its drama students not as teachers or historians of drama, but as actors, directors, set and lighting designers and playwrights.

Carnegie Tech is the exception. The inescapable fact is that most of the graduates of drama schools enter the teaching profession. As Giles M. Fowler, drama critic for the Kansas City Star, observed, "The whole concept of university drama departments is a fairly recent American innovation, and even now I suppose such departments often tend to turn out more drama teachers, trained to turn out more drama teachers, trained to turn out more drama teachers."

The results of a National Student Association-Moderator magazine survey agree. Of the respondents from schools offering a drama major, 80 per cent judged that their school did not adequately prepare students for careers in professional theater. On the other hand, more than 70 per cent thought their schools gave adequate preparation for careers in drama education.

The university, with its physical and financial resources, can be the place to train theater professionals.

To do so, the university must co-operate with resident professional theaters, found in communities throughout the United States.

But the majority of U.S. resident companies operate at a deficit. Unless they can be given a more secure financial base than they presently have, it is doubtful that more than a handful will experiment and innovate. It is even doubtful that many of these will be able, season after season, to stage artistic or even adequate productions of standard works.

If the university drama department is linked to the professional company in its community, the professional company will have a better financial basis and the department will foster professionalism.

This solution isn't original. Robert Brustein will install a fully professional company at Yale next year to perform classics and the experimental and avant-garde work of America's new playwrights. Stanford last year used a $300,000 Rockefeller Foundation grant to hire several professional actors and form them into a resident repertory company which preserved close ties with the university's drama department.

clear that the state's constitutional officers were subject to the provisions, which require open meetings and records of all governmental bodies except grand juries.

Smith said he would like for the measure to make a distinction between honest mistakes and willful violations of provisions providing a misdemeanor offense for failure to notify news media in advance of unscheduled governmental meetings.

Rep. Leon Holsted of North Little Rock, who handled the Senate bill in the House for Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock, withdrew the proposal for amending.

Sen. Guy Jones of Conway introduced a bill permitting him to file a libel suit in Faulkner County against the Arkansas Gazette. Jones said he wouldn't necessarily file a suit against the paper, which has been critical of him, if his bill were approved.

"I just think it would be a good law to have," he said. "If you live in Little Rock and have an automobile accident in Fayetteville, you can file suit in Pulaski County. Character assassination can hurt you more sometimes than an automobile accident."

Sen. John F. Gibson of Dermott introduced a measure requiring circuit courts to call for grand jury investigations of all primary and general elections. Sen. — Approved 25-1 a House bill that would require life insurance salesmen to take a written examination provided by the state insurance commissioner.

Driver Always Scared at 500 mph

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Art Arfons, who has his sights set on breaking the world speed records on both land and water, doesn't pretend to be a nervous, fearless hero.

"I am scared stiff every time I get behind a wheel at speeds over 500 miles an hour," the 40-year-old daredevil from Akron, Ohio, said today.

"Things are blowing up in front of you so that you can't see. You realize you are in a sensitive, fragile piece of machinery. You know you're just a second away from death."

"A man would be a fool not to feel a bit of fear under those conditions. Yet we keep on trying for greater speed — Heaven only knows why."

Arfons is in New York showing off his latest speed contraption — an elaborate collection of nuts and bolts and steel which he calls the "Green Monster Cyclops" and with which he hopes to crack the late Donald Campbell's water speed record of 276 m.p.h.

Campbell, speed demon son of the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, was killed Jan. 3 when his jet hydroplane boat, Bluebird, disintegrated on England's Lake Coniston while racing at 200 miles per hour.

"Campbell was shooting for the 300 mark — and that's my aim with this craft," said Arfons, pointing to the snub-nosed

Home Court Definitely an Advantage

By ESCAR THOMPSON
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — How much advantage is the home floor in a college basketball game?

Tennessee Coach Ray Mears should qualify as an expert on the subject. His team has won 19 consecutive games on its home court.

The streak dates back to a 53-50 loss to Vanderbilt in early December, 1965, and includes perhaps the biggest upset of the 1965-66 season — a 69-62 victory over Kentucky.

Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats came to town last year boasting a 25-game winning streak and ranked No. 1 in the country.

"I don't really know how you evaluate the home floor advantage," said Mears, who was a little surprised when told his Volunteers had won 19 straight in the Tennessee fieldhouse over the past two seasons.

"There are a lot of factors involved," Mears added. "You have to get used to playing on your home court. You get used to the phia engagement which begins lighting."

Feb. 8 and ends March 4.

He said he resigned because of the condition of his wife, Benita Hume, who recently underwent an operation. He is planning to take her back to England when she is released from the hospital.

"And, of course, they react to the home crowd. The cheers of the students naturally influence your players to try harder."

"There have been times, though, when I've seen crowd behavior shake up the visiting team and cause it to play better."

Mears said as a general rule most coaches rate the home floor advantage at between 8-12 points.

Story of the Founding of A&P Significant in American History

The year of A&P's founding in 1859, was marked by many significant developments in American history. John Brown raided Harper's Ferry as the storm clouds of the Civil War gathered. Colonel Edwin Drake drilled the first oil well at Titusville, Pennsylvania, clearing the way for the Motor Age. The Comstock Lode was uncovered in Nevada, and the first hotel passenger elevator in the country was installed in New York's Fifth Avenue Hotel.

A&P began in that year with a man, an idea, and a shipload of tea. The man was George H. Hartford, then 26, who had left his home in Augusta, Maine, and had worked briefly in St. Louis before heading East again to New York City. His idea was to sell good tea then the favorite national beverage, to New Yorkers at a price by buying an entire clipper shipload and selling it directly to the public, thus eliminating many in-between steps and costs.

So successful was his venture in selling the first shipload at dockside that he immediately opened his first store at 31 Vessey Street in New York City.

Of all the events that happened in 1859, the opening of that little store was certainly one of the most significant because it was destined to have a profound effect on the lives of generations of Americans—for it meant the establishment of a new concept of efficient, low-cost mass distribution that led to the development of many other great chains—food, drug, variety stores and general merchandise.

The Vessey Street store was a wonder to behold. Outside, a huge gaslit "T" illuminated a store front of "real Chinese vermilion and flaked gold". Inside, the red and gold scheme was carried over to the huge tea bins that lined the walls, Japanese lanterns and brilliant gaslit chandeliers that threw a bright hue over the cashier's cage, which was built in the shape of a Chinese pagoda. To bring the highest possible volume of customers marching through the store, he included a brass band that played on Saturday nights, that were spectacular even in the era of P. T. Barnum was in the height of his glory.

The Vessey Street store and the cost-cutting philosophy on which it was based was so successful that Mr. Hartford was soon spreading his activities beyond the confines of 31 Vessey Street.

Advertisements began appearing in national magazines such as Harper's Weekly announcing the fantastic tea values available by mail order from New York; "tea clubs" were being organized in cities up and down the coast.

By 1869, ten years after it opened its doors, the original Vessey Street store had outgrown and supplanted by a larger location next door, coffee had been added to the line, (a few years later it would be christened Eight O'Clock), and Wells Fargo wagons were delivering the Company's brands throughout the land. Within a short time after 1869, there were "retail branch houses" in Boston and Philadelphia, and by the beginning of the 1870's A&P stores were springing up in major cities along the eastern seaboard.

It was a national tragedy, the Chicago fire of 1871, that first took the company into the heart of the Midwest. The nation mobilized its resources to come to the aid of the ruined city, and as relief supplies began to rumble in by trainload after trainload, A&P foods were among the first to arrive. Soon an A&P store had been hastily set up, and within a few months, there were two more. And as the thriving community rebuilt itself, the A&P stayed to open more retail outlets.

By 1880, when the bustle was a standard accessory of feminine attire and horses were still pulling the trolleys, there were 95 A&P stores scattered from Boston to Milwaukee. Not only was the company recognized as the most efficient coffee and tea business in the world, but it had already been established as a symbol of the new chain-store concept. By this time, the company had added coffee and spices to its line of teas.

That was the year when George L. Hartford, then 15 years old, the oldest son of the four-der came to work for the company. Young "Mr. George" began as the chief cashier of the New York store, and for some years, his most time-consuming task was the counting, bill by bill, of the chain's daily cash income. But Mr. George had more on his mind than just keeping track of what came in. From the beginning he gave minute attention to the mechanics of the purchasing and retailing operation, and it was not long before this attention resulted in what, in retrospect, was a historic decision for the company.

Sometime in the 1880's, the youngster happened to mention to a chemist friend that baking powder must consist of extremely expensive ingredients, since its price was so high. "Not at all," answered the friend, "it's just alum and bicarbonate of soda." Shortly thereafter the back section of the company's New York store was curtained off and a chemist was put to work making baking powder, which the company put out under its own name and sold at a fraction of the going price.

This venture heralded the beginning of A&P's manufacturing operation and subsequently the food-tasting laboratories designed to see that each item sold in A&P stores meets the company's high quality standards.

In 1880 a second son, John, joined his brother and father in the business and rounded out the triumvirate that was to lead the company in its formative years. Mr. John, who was seven years younger than Mr. George, was 16 when he came to work as a five-dollar-a-week clerk in the main store in downtown New York. But it was not long before he was working closely with his father and brother in broadening the company's line and in pepping the map with more and more red-and-gold fronted stores. As the country kept improving its machinery and the population kept changing its tastes, these three kept adapting their operations to meet new needs. As their operations in the cities grew, they did not fail to remember that vast segments of the population were still cut off from the urban centers by bad roads and they organized a vast fleet of traveling "stores" to service this market. The red-and-gold A&P wagon, whose drivers acted as store manager, clerk, cashier, and blacksmith-and-veterinarian to his team of horses, became a familiar sight on literally hundreds of mud-to-the-hubs wagon routes through the country.

In 1901, when Marconi first demonstrated his telegraph and the first oil well gushed in Texas, there were 200 A&P stores and hundreds of wagons. In 1912, the year the Titanic hit an iceberg and sank of both stores and wagons had been more than doubled.

But all this progress was to pale into relative insignificance in the years immediately following. For in 1912, Mr. John hit upon an idea that was responsible for the most important decision in the company's history. At that time the individual A&P stores offered all the services that the other food retailers gave: A&P clerks took telephone orders, provided home delivery gave away premiums and even chalked up charge accounts.

To Mr. John, there was a more efficient way of doing a volume business. This was to strip away all the unnecessary services to sell food over the counter and for cash. This way he reasoned, huge savings could be achieved on overhead and prices would be reduced to the point where the customers would be willing to forego the "extras."

Mr. John opened up such a store—right around the corner from the Company's main outlet in Jersey City, the biggest money-maker of the chain. So closely did he cut his cost corners on that original "economy" store that when it opened it did not have even a sign on the front. But, as it turned out, no sign was necessary. Within six months his nameless outlet was a most profitable shop, and the A&P around the corner had been run out of business.

The surge of expansion that was launched by the "economy store" in 1912 continued unabated through the First World War, through the Twenties and into the beginning of the great Depression. In the mid-Twenties another significant change came in the Company's operations. This was the launching of the "Combination Store" which for the first time, offered one-stop food shopping.

Traditionally, the food business was highly specialized with fresh produce available only at the "green-grocers" and fresh meats at the meat markets. As early as 1900, A&P foresaw the possibilities of bringing all these foods under one roof, and experimented from time to time with a limited sale of the less perishable vegetables and of meat.

In 1925 however, A&P pioneered company-wide mass distribution of fresh fruits and vegetables, making it possible for consumers to get fresh, out-of-season produce on a year round basis. A year later, establishment of a National Meat Department resulted in the birth of the "Combination Store" and cleared the way for the development of the super market a few years later. It was also in 1925 that the spread of the company's operations resulted in the decision to decentralize. That year five separate Divisions were organized. Each one had its own president and advisory board of directors, its own executive staff and a large force of field men, commodity buyers, warehousing men and transportation employees. In 1926 a sixth Division was added and in 1938, a seventh. Today seven Divisions are headquartered in New York, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Detroit and Jacksonville. The stores in this area are part of the Southern Division with headquarters in Jacksonville, Florida.

In the late Thirties, the supermarkets entered the scene. Beginning with 20 supermarkets in 1936, it pushed steadily upward, replacing "service" stores by the score. This transition to super markets continued at a steady pace (excepting the war years) to a point where today most of the retail outlets are of the super market variety.

Throughout its entire history A&P has adhered to the basic philosophy of efficient, low-cost distribution and to the founder's philosophy, "Always do what is honest, fair, sincere, and in the best interest of our customers."

Today, A&P is the world's leading organization for the purchase and distribution of food. Behind each of its 4,000 odd stores lies a far-flung procurement and distribution setup. There are scores of warehouses, large modern bakeries, coffee roasting plants, milk plants, a salmon fishing fleet and canneries, a nationwide buying network, the house, food processing plants in the East and Midwest, coffee buying offices in Central and South America, and hundreds of commodity specialists who cover America from the olive groves of California to the lobster beds of Maine.

Ethics Group Plans Public Hearing

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ethics committee, rejecting arguments by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, has decided to hold public hearings into the Connecticut Democrat's financial affairs.

Dodd's chief counsel, John Sonnett, contended Monday at a closed committee session that the Senate is not empowered to investigate the senator's financial activities.

After a meeting of nearly four hours, the committee issued a statement saying that after carefully considering that contention, it decided it does have jurisdiction.

Staff investigators have spent months on the probe and have examined subpoenaed financial records.

The bipartisan committee, in a statement issued by Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., and Vice Chairman Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said it had ordered public hearings to be held "as soon as practicable."

The vote upholding the committee's jurisdiction reportedly was unanimous. It was understood, however, that the vote to conduct public hearings was split.

The committee's investigation of misconduct charges against Dodd began a year ago. One set of public hearings was held last summer, dealing with Dodd's relations with Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, a registered agent for West German business interests.

After Monday's meeting, neither Dodd nor Sonnett commented on their challenge to the committee's authority.

KNOW WHEN OUR SHIP CAME IN?

In 1859.
That was the year an imaginative 26-year old, named George H. Hartford, had a brilliant idea.
The idea? Buy tea direct from the Orient by the clipper shipload.

1859...that's when our ship came in. That was the beginning.
That's when our founder showed he cared about people.
Today, in keeping with that proud heritage, A&P is still dedicated to bringing the most good food, to the most people for the least amount of money.

Mine, Mill Workers to Join AFL-CIO

By FRANK PITMAN
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers is engaged today in posting a final footnote to a 73-year saga of fierce and sometimes bloody labor progress. The union merges Wednesday with the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers.

Re-entry of the roughneck hard-rock miners into the mainstream of American labor after years of going it alone will unite its 38,000 members with more than one million steelworkers.

Once the two unions fought bitter jurisdictional battles for membership. But now steelworkers President I.W. Abel says:

"Our basic objectives, our viewpoints and our attitudes are today pretty much the same."

And so, at the miners' headquarters in a two-story brick building in east Denver, yellowed and tattered volumes of Mine-Mill newspapers, magazines and other documents are being crated. Some will go to the University of Colorado's library collection of Western lore, others to the steelworkers' headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The records chronicle the turbulent history of a union founded in Butte, Mont., in 1893 when miners worked for $1 to $1.75 a day. The union's first goal was $3.50 a day for the hard-rock miners, who blast and chip ore from granite in the mountains of the West.

New West Store for Customer Convenience

For the convenience of our customer, we have opened a new modern West's Department Store in the new "Hope Village Shopping Center" here. This spacious new store offers you casual shopping, modern surroundings with the convenience of free parking only a few steps from the front door. With this additional space and the new type fixtures used in this new West Store, we will be able to offer you more convenient shopping from a much larger selection of merchandise at West's usual low prices.

J. A. West Company is a typical example of American free enterprise. This Arkansas department store group, originally called West Brothers and is the realization of a dream in 1923 of three young men. This trio of brothers, W. D., J. A., and H. O. West were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. West, a farm family of near Rose Pine, Louisiana. There were eight other children and eight of the eleven are still living today. All of the West family remember well their humble beginning of their southwest Louisiana farm, and speak with great pride when they discuss their early years.

In the year 1923, W. D. West was employed by Rouse Racket Stores, J. A. West was working for A. F. Adams Dry Goods and H. O. West was employed by Long Bell Lumber Company. All were De Ridder, Louisiana, firms and each of the West Brothers had been with these firms for several years. Their early farm years had taught them to be conservative and the trio was able to save $2,500.00 during this period. This was the original capital investment of the West Brothers Department Store group.

Twenty-five hundred dollars, a great deal of energy, and a dream were the obsession of the three young West in 1923. The town of Mansfield, Louisiana, was selected as the site of the first West Brothers Store opened. Also in that fall 34 years ago the West Brothers opened store No. 2 in Minden, Louisiana. The West moved into Arkansas in 1924 and opened their first Arkansas store at Manolia. The firm under the American system of free enterprise continued its growth until 1929. That year saw the beginning of this country's worst economic break the fall of the stock market and the subsequent depression. Progress stopped for West Department Store, but with the tightening of belts, hard work from dawn to dusk, the burning of mid night oil and keen competitive merchandising, the West group survived. No stores were added to the firm until 1935, then expansion continued slowly and in 1955 there were 28 retail stores.

In May 1955 J. A. West, Sr. from his interest in the West Brothers firm formed J. A. West Company and opened general offices in El Dorado, Arkansas, and took over the operation of five of the West Brothers Stores. In January of 1956 H. O. West and W. D. West divided their interest and thus forming two chains operating 13 outlets each. H. O. West operating under the name West & Company, and W. D. West retaining the original name West Brothers. The three firms now have a total of 72 retail stores.

Mr. Cagle in his comments on the new store said that he, his assistant manager, James Brown, and his entire organization want to take this opportunity to thank all of their customers for their patronage through out the years which made it possible for us to open this modern and much larger store for the convenience of you, our customer. Please consider this an invitation to visit our store at your convenience.

World Fears U.S. Threat of Domination

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The threat of industrial and financial domination by the United States has disturbed nations on every continent of the world but nowhere at the moment more than in Canada.

There are ironies in this. American capital has helped the Canadian economy boom. American technology has helped develop many Canadian industries. U.S. enterprise has made many Canadian jobs.

But take another look: Canada's oil and mining wealth is controlled and managed by foreigners; some of her industries are mere subsidiaries of U.S. parents; Canadian jobs sometimes hinge on decisions made in another country.

Expressed in its broadest dimensions, the fear is that Canada will lose its Canadian character, that it might in a relative sense become just another American state.

Statehood, of course, is not a real issue. It is an extreme position, but it has been used by American speakers to taunt Canadian audiences.

In turn, Canadian industrialists sometimes try to keep the record straight by reminding American audiences that they are guests in Canada and that the two nations have different traditions and differing viewpoints.

This threat of U.S. industrial domination works from without as well. Because of its industrial might, the United States floods the world with goods and more than $5 billion a year of these are sold in Canada.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson recently expressed the dilemma.

"We risk Canadian identity, but if we didn't buy American goods, listen to American television programs and travel to the United States in winter our standard of living would go down."

The price of this standard of living is already considered too dear at the moment by some Canadian officials who note that no industrial nation has ever before permitted so much foreign domination. What other nation, they ask, has 5,000 U.S. subsidiaries within its borders?

These officials, mainly Walter L. Gordon, a Cabinet minister, are asking now if these subsidiaries serve the interests of Canada.

Do they really compete with their American parents or are they merely branch plants? Do they buy their supplies in Canada and thereby contribute to the Canadian economy? Are they obedient to Canadian laws only or can the United States apply its antitrust and trading with the enemy regulations?

Gordon has now been named to study the implications of foreign investment and devise a way to encourage an inflow of capital without at the same time losing control over key segments of Canadian life and industry.

Aileen Reports:

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Wait, wait! The next time YOU—a warm, human being—let Hyde take over Jekyll because of a hard day at the office consider just one plight of Mrs. Ellen Stoutenberg.

As an instigator and director of the Travel Program for Foreign Diplomats, this former Pennsylvanian finds her job often triggers nightmares.

One of her favorite stories of travels with 31 men and women of the international elite almost turned into a real live horror. She now laughingly says she gets shellshocked at least once every trip she makes to show off the United States to foreign dignitaries. "I wake up nights wondering why I got involved."

Then she puckishly relates the story of the day she arrived in Cody, Wyo., with a group of ambassadors, counsellors and first, second and third secretaries from the embassies in Washington, D.C., and U.N. missions in New York.

"The project started in 1962," she explained. "We make three two-week trips and three weekend trips a year. There is a lot of ground-work to arrange for the diplomats to stay with families in each community."

"Many calls to Cody brought assurances that everything was arranged," she recalls. "The day we arrived the families were at the airport to meet us. Then I found out the mayor and his wife went on radio the morning of our arrival and SOSed for families to house the party."

Mrs. Stoutenberg says she was backing the Cody Chamber of Commerce into a corner when some of the diplomats came in beaming about their "families." The slow grins began, she says, and one man said, "You don't understand us out here. We like to keep things loose."

Perhaps keeping things loose is what enchants those from the 115 U.N. missions and 96 embassies who are invited to see the U.S.A. The program began after Mrs. Stoutenberg got the blessings

Karl Wallenda to End Retirement

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Karl Wallenda, 62, the patriarch of "The Great Wallendas," will come out of retirement briefly to resume 40 years of high-wire walking, he said Sunday in Sarasota, Fla.

Wallenda was the anchor man of the seven-man pyramid—balanced on a high wire—which thrilled many an audience until it came apart 35 feet aloft in the Detroit Coliseum five years ago.

Karl's nephew and son-in-law were killed. His only son, Mario, was paralyzed, and Karl suffered a double hernia and pelvic fracture.

Karl has three performances booked next month with the Shrine Circus. His current troupe includes his daughter, Carla Guzman, 29; her husband, Chico; brother-in-law Carlos, and a youngster, Barry Toll, 19, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Wallenda has six grandchildren, with all but a 2-year-old already in training.

Formosa Actress to Change Name

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chai Ching, 21, a movie actress in Nationalist China, is changing her name because it is also that of Mrs. Mao Tse-tung. Mao's Chiang Ching — the name means green river in English — was also an actress before she married the chairman of the Chinese Communist party. Now about 53, she has made a name for herself in recent months as one of the leaders of the purge on the Communist mainland.

It costs about $350 per person for a two-week trip and the yearly budget of $100,000 comes from donations from industry. The generosity mirrors the aim of the travel program—to show foreigners the United States as it really is. "If the money came from the government most diplomats would be suspicious of what they see on the trips."

The impact of the project on our future international relations is reflected in a comment by an Ethiopian who had served three years in Washington. He said until the trip to Cheyenne, Cody, Jackson Hole and San Francisco, "I never met a private American."

Traveling together, many from the diplomatic corps also mix for the first time since "ranks usually don't mix in the cities of their assignments." Also, a majority of the diplomats never see more of the United States than New York City and Washington, D. C.

So far there have been 37 trips to California, Texas, Wyoming, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Alaska, Hawaii, Arizona, Nevada and Georgia.

Diplomats from Denmark.

ATTENTION! Luis Jordana, first secretary of the Spanish embassy in Washington, D.C., makes a point in visit to Warren Livestock Co., in Cheyenne, Wyo. Listening is Senor Echevarria (left), president of the sheep ranch.

Kenya, Yemen, Libya, Nepal and Iran, for example, visit businesses, parks, public schools, legislatures, courts and city council meetings.

More important, they compare notes on their over-night stays with families. The warmth and hospitality these often titled foreign diplomats encounter in the homes led an Iraqi to say he had been "brain-washed and heart-washed."

In four years Mrs. Stoutenberg feels the project has only scratched the surface.

"The diplomats describe the Americans they meet in terms of innocence, sophistication, openness and say they now understand our isolationism. 'No wonder Americans want to be left alone, they have so much,' is another comment."

Yet, the visitors are hurt that many Americans they meet "don't know where my country is." The educational process works in two ways.

New York, especially, takes a shellacking from dignitaries. An Asian diplomat sums it up: "Outside New York City, they are less callous, less sophisticated, less gush, less Madison Avenue. There is more naturalness. And to me this is the kind of exchange I want, that is, a natural and more honest one."

The knowledge that she is helping a small but influential group of foreigners to understand Americans keeps Mrs. Stoutenberg chasing board chairmen for donations and soothes her nightmares.

LET'S HEAR IT FOR BARBED WIRE

FREEDPORT, Ill. (AP) — Barbed wire could be rated as one of the greatest boons to agriculture, says J.C. Mooker, curator of a farm museum.

A century ago the very existence of farming was threatened by the high cost of fencing. Timber for rail fences was scarce on the prairies and plains. Prickly hedges were tried, but growing a hedge was a slow process.

But from the prickly came the idea for barbed wire. Jacob Haish, I.L. Ellwood and Joseph F. Glidden pioneered the industry. Glidden's patent for a barb that wouldn't rotate harmlessly around the line wire earned him 25 cents royalty for each 100 pounds produced by the American Steel and Wire Company in DeKalb.

An attempt was made to prohibit barbed wire as "too cruel to animals" but proved to be unnecessary because animals learned to respect the new fence.

A move to another community means more effort to meet people.

Little Doubt World Is Mixed Up

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a busy time, full of go-go-go. Mixed up, too.

The United States and Russia spent billions, and used up years, to build missiles to use on each other, just in case. Now the Russians are busy with an antimissile system which could cost them another $25 billion.

This country, debating about it, wishes the Soviets wouldn't throw money around like that because, if the United States goes all out on an antimissile kick, the bill may be $40 billion.

The Russians, according to reports, have an X-ray arrangement that could blow up incoming missiles while this country, so reports say, knows how to make a missile which could destroy several cities hundreds of miles apart.

This involves a special technique called MIRV, which is short for Multiple-Individually-Targetable-Reentry-Vehicle.

That may be too much for most people to understand but most can understand that relations between Russia and Red China are closer to breaking than ever before although practically nobody outside China seems to understand what is going on inside China.

The Chinese are calling the Russian leaders pigs and, in effect, reactionaries while the Russians are calling the Chinese, in effect, nuts.

Neither is saying the embarrassing thing: That both are suffering from acute nationalism, which communism was supposed to eliminate, or that nationalism may last longer than communism, which is bound to go to pieces if nationalism last long enough.

Elsewhere, the "doves" and the "hawks" are swooping and picking and pecking at one another over Vietnam while the Arabs, who were supposed to be united against Israel, are banging at one another, as witness the weekend bombing by Egypt of Saudi Arabia.

If this weren't bad enough, last week's budget by President Johnson was.

This budget, which he presented to Congress as the expense bill for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, got caught up in a pair of systems which may make sense if you're an economist but not if you're not.

Johnson had predicted earlier his budget would be $135 billion which, if looked at the old system way, comes out sure enough at $135 billion.

But under the new system, called the national income account budget, it comes out at $169 billion. Since this is a book-keeping way of looking at it, nobody seems mad about it if only because not everybody is a bookkeeper.

Meanwhile, Congress is a puzzle. Nobody seems to know what to expect there where the Republicans in the last election picked up a bunch of seats, particularly in the House — not enough to take control away from the Democrats but enough to put a dent in them.

Instead of a big change, this puts things back where they were for years, giving the Southern Democrats the balance of power. If they stick with the rest of the Democrats, the Republicans will be swamped.

But if the Southern Democrats join forces with the Republicans they can frustrate the rest of the Democrats and Johnson, too. This might seem a happy prospect for the GOP but the Republican leadership in the House says it won't form a coalition with the Southerners.

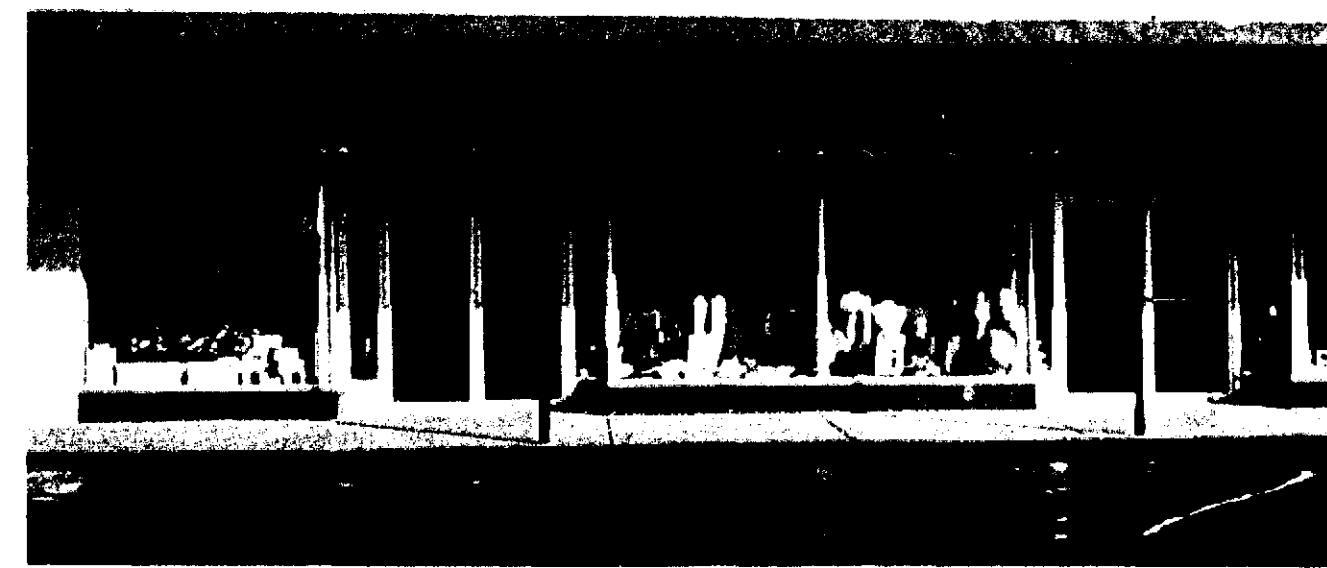

The Republicans, remembering that Barry Goldwater courted Southern support (everybody remembers what happened to him) and wanting to create a new image for the GOP, may try to play it independent — for a while, that is.

The Hope Village Shopping Center is located on a five acre tract and has 58,500 sq. ft. of sales area. The parking lot provides space for 375 cars.

The Morgan & Lindsey store is a one floor check-out store and is air-conditioned throughout. The store is entered by two sales entrances and has a combination see-through display window front. Ultra-modern store interior provides easy decorator wall color and high lighting with the combined use of the latest industrial equipment used in commercial buildings.

Several stores in this center opened last fall with more to follow in 1967. Among these are Village Rexall Pharmacy, West Department Store, Kennedy Shoe Stores, Sears and A. & P.

Morgan & Lindsey opened its first store in Hope in the year 1937. This was the fifty-second store, all of which were located in Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi and East Texas. The company headquartered in Jasper, Texas at that time. "This new store in Hope will be our one-hundred-fifteenth," stated E. E. Latham, President. "Our decision to open a large store in Hope is based on a Company policy to grow with the community," continued Latham. "When our first store was open in Hope in 1937, the entire nation was suffering from the great depression but our firm had faith in the community of Hope then as it does today." "Our trust was well placed and we are extremely proud that we can now bring to Hope this Ultra-modern store to meet the needs of this growing community," concluded Latham.

Highlights of the special activities planned for the official center opening is a ribbon cutting ceremony to be held at 10 a.m. Officiating at this ceremony will be mayor John B. Gardner, Jr., assisted by several city officials. Also attending will be company executives representing stores in the Shopping Center. Many of the stores will give away door prizes. Each merchant will provide special merchandise prizes for the kids and adults, alike. There will be special registration for valuable merchandise gifts. Hundreds of dollars in merchandise prizes will be given away during the nine-day event. All stores will participate in offering hundreds of merchandise values at tremendous savings. All of the stores have been busy buying the seasons best merchandise for this fabulous event. All stores in the center will participate in making this event Hope's largest and best!

Morris stated the new Morgan & Lindsey store will offer new expanded lines of merchandise not previously sold in the downtown store. The new Morgan & Lindsey store will feature popular priced merchandise grouped in thirty-one (31) departments. Each department will have its sales lady in charge with some department heads in charge of several departments. Merchandise in each department has been tailored to meet the needs of the community. The store will be displayed in merchandise classification so that the customer can find all related merchandise in one area of the store. As one official of the company said, "complete lines of stationery items, gift wrapping, greeting cards and pocket books will be displayed together within an area of the store." Piece goods and sewing notions will be displayed adjacent for quick selections of matching accessories.

The store will carry a complete line of health and beauty aids, high fashion jewelry and a candy section featuring bulk and bagged candy. All will be displayed within an area. Hosiery department, infants and baby-wear and women's wear have been grouped for modern day shopping. Men and boy's wear and the shoe department make up one section of the store. The new store will feature expanded lines of popular priced ready-to-wear items including women and misses outer wear. Special hang-type racks have been employed for displaying ready-to-wear. Whether its women's underwear or outerwear, the customer seeks, it can be found grouped in this section. Other departments located in the rear of the store are tin and enamelware, complete line of glassware, plastic ware and hardware. The store will offer a limited assortment of furniture, a wide range of toys and models, special fixtures designed for rugs and floor coverings, lamps, and lamp shades enhance the extensive merchandise lines in these departments. Across the back wall of the store, the customer will find a complete curtain and drapery department that is the highlight of the store. Adjacent from that, curtain hardware and window shades and a complete pet department that will be of interest to the younger set.

TOM TIEDE IN VIETNAM

By TOM TIEDE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

AN KHE, Vietnam—(NEA)—Nguyen Wang Hang had hated the Americans for a long time. And with reason they were his enemy.

Actually, he knew little of them, world news being somewhat scarce in his North Vietnamese hamlet. But he heard wicked things about the foreigners. And, too, he could see their evil daily.

U.S. planes bombed his village.

They destroyed his home. They killed his friends.

And they even threatened his own life.

So when Nguyen Hang, 20, was conscripted into the People's army to fight the white faces in the south, he was a willing recruit.

He was also a frightened one, however, because he had long suspected the dangers of combat and, worse, the plight of his unfortunate peers who had been taken captive by the U.S. armies.

Stories were the Americans cut up their prisoners and intoxicated themselves on the blood. Or they scalped their victims and used the hair for women's wigs. Or, at best, they would take a captive far away and put him in a zoo, behind bars with the snakes.

Hang's superiors, moreover, compounded the rumors with photos and official documents. They schooled him and drilled him to hate

And Hang learned well enough.

Then, not long after joining, Hang's unit was dispatched on what was to be a "routine" training mission. They left one afternoon by truck convoy from the military base camp near Hanoi.

They drove for hours

The mission, clearly, was not routine. Nor was it training. When they finally halted, the soldiers went into South Vietnam with immediate orders to enter the shooting war.

They did. They moved through the central highlands to the coast and there engaged several elements of the U.S. First Air Cavalry Division. It was a brutal and disastrous initiation.

They encountered ferocity such as most of the peasant soldiers hadn't known existed. Jet attacks from the air, 24-hour harassment from artillery guns they never saw, endless volleys of infantry rifle fire that blew horrible holes in the People's defense.

Hang was one of the first hit. His arm was busted up in an early battle and he was cut off from the others and left to wander by himself.

He had no medicine

His arm puffed up.

Then it began to rot.

The Americans found Hang near death, unable to resist. His wound was several days old. Dirt caked the discolored portions of his flesh. His arm was ready to fall off from gangrene.

To his surprise, Hang's captors didn't drink his blood. He was taken to a medical station where he saw several other North Vietnamese prisoners.

He was given anesthesia and his arm was removed surgically. The infection was blunted. He was given blood and vitamin solutions. He was cleaned, fed, clothed and put to bed near attending nurses. When he was stronger some men came to his cot.

They gave him cigarettes and cold water and asked questions about his background.

"What's your name?"

Hang was reluctant.

"Where do you live?"

The prisoner mumbled nervously.

"Don't be afraid, fella. no one's going to hurt you here."

To the contrary. Captivity was a blessing for the young soldier. It took his arm, but gave him a future and introduced him to more new thought than in his entire previous experience.

Today, the former People's army recruit is learning English by association and capitalism by selling Cokes to his onetime adversaries, the GIs of the Air Cavalry.

He is happy, curious, agreeable. He is healthy, thankful and philosophic about his wound. He knows he'll never be a paperhanger.

And, most importantly, Nguyen Hang hates no one any more.
